SUPPORT your student in exploring new areas of study and interests.

ENCOURAGE your student to begin developing a work-related or skills-based resume.

SHARE your own career journey.

Your student may experience indecision regarding major or career choice.

Direct your student to family, friends or colleagues in fields and industries of interest.

Provide insight to your student on what you have observed to be their strengths and interests.

Recommend that your student enroll in UNIV 212: Career and Life Options, and meet with a career counselor.

Remind your student that it is never too soon or too late to seek an internship or summer job.

Have colleagues or hiring professionals review your student’s resume and cover letter.

Help your student dress for success.

Provide names of professionals who may be a useful resource. Let your student conduct the job search — not you!

Encourage your student to attend career and internship expos, informational workshops, networking sessions, and meet with a career counselor to refine professional communication skills and job search strategies.

Continue to provide support and positivity through the job search process — remember what it was like when you were applying and interviewing for jobs. Be sure not to project your own stress and anxiety on your student during this journey.
