Congrats to the Houston Astros on becoming World Series Champions!

A team whose mission was to #EarnHistory from the beginning, the Astros worked even more tirelessly this post-season to bring Houston a championship after Hurricane Harvey. The CCD is also here to help you earn your own success, no matter what obstacles you've had. November is a great time to stop by for a career counseling appointment, get help with your internship applications, or apply for an externship.

Stop by during drop-in hours M-F from 12-1pm or make an appointment in Handshake! Our career counselors have been working hard to provide career guidance to hundreds of students this semester, and their calendars are starting to open up this month.

The Rundown

Quick, career-related highlights for the week

Externships are live!

You've been hearing about these one to five-day job shadowing opportunities all semester. Now, log into Handshake, search “Owl Edge Externships” and start exploring!
In order to maximize your chances of being matched, you need to apply to all opportunities of interest. Your resume doesn’t have to be perfect, but your paragraph needs to indicate interest (and, yes, you need to write a different paragraph for each opportunity to which you apply).

This is your chance to:

- Explore careers, industries, and/or employers
- Build your network
- Experience a work environment and/or gain career advice

PhD students, this is for you!

ImaginePhD is a free online career exploration and planning tool for PhD students and postdoctoral scholars in the humanities and social sciences.

ImaginePhD is designed to bridge the gap between doctoral education and the realm of career possibilities by allowing users to

- Assess their career-related skills, interests, and values
- Explore careers paths appropriate to their disciplines
- Create self-defined goals
- Map out next steps for career and professional development success
