Salient Rotational Development Program

Salient’s Rotational Development Program offers qualified candidates the rare opportunity to see a set of multi-faceted experiences in asset management. Over a 24 month period, the RD program offers candidates hands on learning in portfolio consulting, security analysis, portfolio construction, quantitative research, credit analysis, trade evaluation, external manager research, and sales and marketing.

Growth at Salient is driven by performance and contribution to the firm. As a result, there is no fixed career path, hierarchy, or amount of time one is required to stay in a particular position. Instead, we reward outstanding performance. Upon completion of the RD program, candidates will have the opportunity to join a specific group in a full-time capacity.

While a background in finance is not required, successful candidates will be well versed in basic numerical computation, Excel, and the ability to communicate complex ideas in simple, straightforward ways. Progress towards the CFA (Chartered Financial Analyst) credential is considered a plus.

To learn more about Salient’s Rotational Development Program go to: http://www.salientpartners.com